Hello i am a small breeder and i show my dogs regularly.

I have a permit for 4 dogs.

These dogs are part of my family

Well cared for as show dogs.

I am not a puppy farmer i go to great lengths to breed show quality dogs and to better my chosen breed.

Yes i do agree with stopping puppy farming, but registered breeders are not the ones doing this.

How often and how many purebred registered dogs do you see in shelters looking for homes.

It is crossbred dogs and backyard breeders doing this , i see all the time staffy x , maltese x etc for sale and shake my head , this is so wrong and the blame is to the irresponsible dog owner.

So why penalize the breeders who do the right thing.

By all means i do agree with compulsory sterilization for dogs sold as pets when age appropriate and close down the crossbreeding backyarders who don't care about the dogs and where they end up.

There are hundreds of people who i show with feeling the same

Make the effort and come down to a dogswest show and see for yourself how us as breeders care for our dogs
